A High School Student Picks His Candidate

I would like to take this time to editorialize a little on the coming school board election. It is my own honest opinion that you, the voters, should put a broad minded person on the school board who not only knows students and knows how to handle them and their many problems, but also a person who isn't just sitting around, anxious to believe the worst rumors and gossip about us, The High School students ! ! What person could be more suited for this position than the father of a student? When election day comes around, I hope you will pick a person who is respected and admired not only by the townspeople, but by the students as well. I know there is such a candidate—his name is Mr. O. W. Irwin.

—Bill Finger.

A College President Emeritus Picks His—

The welfare of the children of any American community depends more upon the school board than upon any other official agency. It is rare that the school board can have as member an expert educator who is completely free from personal or family relation to the schools. Carmel has this rare opportunity by electing Dr. L. A. Williams. Dr. Williams is a nationally recognized authority, especillay on the high school—just where Carmel is at this moment deeply concerned. Carmel has long been his second home, now it is home. He yielded only to the urgence of friends and a sense of duty in allowing his name to be used. On the basis of my knowledge of education, of the Carmel schools, and of Dr. Williams, I earnestly hope for his election to the Board.

—E. O. Sisson.

And We, Too, Have Our Preference

I like Mr. Irwin. I like his personality, which indicates that he can give and take on a governing board without creating friction and stalemate. I like his record as a business man, which indicates intelligence, efficiency. I like his habit of driving car-loads of kids to the basketball and baseball games, and I like his willingness to give his time and effort to serve as president of the Boy Scout Council. Especially, I like the people who are backing him and working for his election. He would certainly have my vote if Dr. L. A. Williams were not also running for the school board, and if the school board were not already amply provided with members endowed with business acumen and an understanding and appreciation of young people and their problems.

If the board has a weakness, it is not in its ability to understand youth and to handle financial matters, but in the understanding of educational problems—what subjects should be offered to the student to make up a well-balanced curriculum. What methods are most successful in presenting the subjects? What are the academic objectives of the school? In other

V-E DAY

Think now of thousands, young and brave,
Whose silence silences our tongue—
Who in uncounted alien graves
Lie side by side, the gift they gave
Too holy to be measured, praised or sung.

Think but of these when bells ring out
For peace assured and victory won.
The fanfare we can do without;
But how to turn our grief about
And write their names forever in the sun?

—DORA HAGEMEYER.

From Patching Up A Family Quarrel To Viewing The Folies Bergere--- Capt. Arnold's Duties Were Varied

Captain Morris Arnold, chaplain with a battalion of aviation engineers allied with the 9th Air Force, spoke simply and unemotionally, expressing in the most objective terms that the situation of a chaplain in war is more than a reasonable facsimile of a snowball in hell. One chaplain to 1200 men is the average within the American army, and within the formidable flood of negative forces that are released by even the most idealistic of wars, he stands responsible not only for things of the spirit, but for morale, for the myriad relationships concerning his men's contacts in those countries through which they pass and in the homeland that they have left behind. After two years of this continued responsibility, Capt. Arnold has rejoined his wife Peggy and their daughter, Jaqueline, at their Carmel home for a thirty day leave, which follows upon his full recovery from a head wound received early in January while riding in a jeep close to the front lines in Germany.

A member of a fast-moving unit, Capt. Arnold and the men he served entered Normandy close upon the heels of D-Day and worked across the face of France, entering the streets of Paris the day before the arrival of DeGaulle, that the two Parisian airfields might be put in order. As one of the first battalions to arrive in Paris, they were given a bang-up welcome, and Capt. Arnold remembers well a nine course dinner, made up of all the delicacies hoarded for the day of liberation. Another Paris recollection concerns the famous evening when Army chaplains took over the second row of Folies Bergere.

But it is not often that aviation engineers are around to enjoy the relaxation that comes after a finished job. As a matter of fact they seldom were about long enough to see the fields they built put into action. That is why the building of the field at Saint Lo is long remembered. While work was still in progress the bombers and fighters arrived to herald the way for Patton's break through. The targets were within four or five miles of the field so that from a high vantage point the men could watch the planes go out, drop their loads and land again at the base, all within ten minutes' time.

The construction of these fields was heralded by some ticklish diplomacy in which Capt. Arnold, acting as unofficial civil affairs of-

CITY OFFICIALS—BUS CO. WORK OUT COMPROMISE

The cause of the citizen with the suitcase has been vindicated. The sign saying that nobody can get off the Bay Rapid Transit Bus except at the bus station, "By Order of the Mayor of Carmel" has been removed from the bus, and the Bay Rapid Transit is now allowed to load and unload passengers at the corner of Ocean and Mission, both coming into town and going out.

The casual and convenient habit of the Transit Company of letting passengers off here and there along the route through town gave rise to concern on the part of the mayor lest Carmel have a Traffic Problem! He banned all stops except at the bus station, "until a traffic survey could be made." A wail of protest arose from the citizens, which was aired in The Pine Cone last Friday.

Over the weekend the mayor, the Chief of Police and the Police Commissioner came to a compromise agreement with the bus company, allowing the Mission-Ocean stop; and the company is taking down the "By Order of the Mayor" sign. The arrangement was officially announced by Police Commissioner Allen Knight at the council meeting Wednesday night.

Carmel Celebrates 3 V-E Days. P. C. Waiting For 4th

Carmel celebrated the V-E Days in characteristic fashion—each in his own time and way. Most of the grocers celebrated Associated Press V-E Day remaining closed on Monday. The churches and restaurants, and several grocers who had passed up Associated Press V-E Day, celebrated Mr. Truman's and Mr. Churchill's V-E Day on Tuesday. Nobody celebrated Mr. Stalin's V-E Day on Wednesday but the bars, which with great impartiality celebrated all three V-E Days, remaining closed Monday Tuesday and Wednesday.

And what V-E Day did The Pine Cone celebrate? We're waiting for the Mayor to get the city council together and to issue a proclamation making it official.

Carmel, Monterey, P. G. Tax Delinquency Under One Percent For 1945

"Some day there won't be any," says City Tax Collector Thomas Hefling optimistically in commenting on the percent of delinquency in payment of 1945 Carmel city taxes, which this year is slightly less than 1%, or .9676%. The continued drop in percentage of delinquency in the past four years he considers an indication of prosperity in the community. Delinquency in 1942 was 2.59%; 1943, 2.53%; 1944, 1.17%. The 1945 delinquent tax list is published elsewhere in this issue of The Pine Cone.

The amount of taxes to be collected this year was $56,753.25. Of this $56,204.10 was paid, leaving a balance of $549.15 which has gone delinquent. "And in most cases they just forgot to pay," says Hefling.

Monterey and Pacific Grove can also show a rosy trend in a low percentage of delinquency. Pacific Grove, with a tax roll of $102,258.73 to collect, had a relinquency of of less than 1%, City Clerk John D. Irwin, in the absence of Tax Collector L. C. Fisher, estimated yesterday. Monterey claims the record. With $210,415.40 to collect, E. C. Walker, Tax Collector Clyde Dorcy's Assistant, estimated from the incomplete roll that the delinquency is not over six-tenths of one percent.

Board Election Is Not Restricted To Carmel Residents

In the School Board Election, May 18 the franchise is not limited to persons living within the city limits, as is the case in election of councilmen. Anyone living within the Carmel Unified School District is eligible to vote for school board members. The district comprises, in addition to the incorporated city, all of the Pebble Beach area to the Country Club, all subdivisions touching Carmel, such as Carmel Woods, LaLoma Terrace, Hatton Fields, Mission Tract, the Point to the Carmel River, and up Carmel Valley for about two miles.

Board Candidates State Platforms, Make Public Announcements Of Policy

Yesterday The Pine Cone solicited a statement of policy from each of the candidates running for election to the Carmel Unified School District Board of Trustees on May 18, O. W. Irwin, Pebble Beach resident and Monterey business man, and Dr. L. A. Williams, University of California professor, who has recently retired to establish a permanent home in Carmel.

Mr. Irwin, who has been a resident and property owner of the district since 1933, and has been active in work with the various youth agencies and this year is serving a term as President of the Bay Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, said that he believes a continuous and sincere personal interest in the schools to be prerequisite for any person seeking office of board member. He especially commends the present and preceding members of the school board, who "have worked so diligently in building our schools" and he feels that "they deserve our faithful support in the maintenance of the job that needs and always will need an A-1 priority, namely the education of our youth."

His interest in school work is not new, he said. His father served on the same school board in his home town for over thirty years and several members of his immediate family have been in school work during their lifetime. He himself taught in high school for a short time after graduation from the school of Business Administration at Oregon State College, where he received a BS degree in 1922.

He concluded with the statement that: "If elected, I will give careful and conscientious attention to the business and administrative problems of the school district as they arise, and will work harmoniously and progressively to the end that our schools may continue to grow and serve the community."

Dr. L. A. Williams, after 23 years as a professor at the University of California, has retired to Carmel where he has owned property, paid taxes and spent his vacations for twenty years. He has taught in elementary and high schools and served on the accrediting board of the University of California, visiting and judging the academic standards of the high schools of the state. His statement is as follows:

"I believe it is the right of every child to have equality of opportunity for an education paid for out of public taxes, and that our public schools exist for the pupils and for no other persons or purposes whatsoever.

"I believe the prime responsibility for supporting and managing our public schools is vested by law and by practice in the individual states and not in the Federal Government, and that it is the responsibility of school boards to determine policies and set up general rules governing the administration and support of the schools.

"I believe a school superintendent should be the executive officer of the school board vested with responsibility and authority for administering the policies and rules of the board.

"I believe the salaries of teachers should be based upon experience and training, not upon the school grade or subject they may be teaching.

"I offer my lifelong experience with public schools for what it may be worth in helping to determine policies affecting our schools. I have no interest in trying to 'run the schools' or in serving any private or group interests. What is best for our children is best for our schools."

Capt. Arnold's Duties Varied

ficer, took active part. When an area was destined to be turned into an air field it was his task, as speaker of tolerable French, to approach the mayor and priest of the village and with them to go to the peasants and break the news that the fields and homes which they had occupied, perhaps for more than a century, must be brought to dust. It was not a pleasant job, and Capt. Arnold commends the French for the courageous way in which they took the condemnation of their property. The Americans respected this, and though work hours went for construction exclusively, in the after-hours army trucks went to work to assist in the moving of the possessions, and often Capt. Arnold headed gangs of men who worked after dark to help in the harvesting of crops. Construction as it got under way proved highly interesting to the surrounding country people. A Sunday afternoon might find three to four thousand people arriving on foot, by bicycle and cart to view the goings on. Such contacts evoked spontaneous relationships between the Yanks and natives. There was buying and selling, but even more there was reciprocal giving. In one village a peasant woman appeared regularly at chow line with a bucket of eggs, passing an egg out to each fellow as he moved by .Needless to say they proffered gum, candy or cigarettes when they had them.

Through the autumn the battalion traveled northward and eventually built the first airfield in Germany, living as they went in foxholes or chateaux, all in accordance with the pointing of "fate's fickle finger." Christmas season found them resting on the Ourthe river about twenty miles south of Liege, enjoying the incomparable Belgian hospitality, and also deep in plans to entertain the children of the town whose fathers had been killed, executed or taken prisoner. The men got the children's Christmas presents in a Liege department store just in the nick of time, because by the following day it had been blown from the face of the earth. The party, complete with Pere Noel, sweets saved from rations, cake and crowning glory —chocolate ice cream made from luxuriously rich sheep's milk— came also just in time. As it was, three-fourths of the battalion were out on patrol, and soon paratroopers began descending from the black skies of early morning. The German break through had come, Resting was over. The party Capt. Arnold arranged in the mirrored, guilded salon of a great chateau became something to remember in the mud splattered days that followed. Even if combat boots were not just the thing for dancing on marble floors, the men cut a good figure, he remembers.

Some of the other duties of a chaplain are less easy to talk about than party planning. The chaplain attempts to familiarize himself with all sorts of religions. With two potential cantors in his unit, Arnold became quite a rabbi. He gained plenty of insight into foxhole religion. Superficial and easily forgotten as much of it was, some of it sticks. Like one of his Tennessee mountaineers who became a regular churchgoer, and boasted that, "God and I have gotten to be pretty good pals," many formed new religious habits. At one time the Captain was preacher on an international circuit with a program that included services in Germany, Belgium and Holland, all in a single Sunday.

Not least among his duties was his part in family affairs. Arranging for cables when time and distance had strained bonds to the breaking point was an involved process. The investigation of the families of prospective brides was another chore assigned to the chaplain, and with eighty-four marriages during the battalion's stay in England, it may be seen he did a brisk business. While there, he also negotiated an annulment between an American soldier and an English girl. Since it had no precedent in British legal history, the tape was especially red, and brought Arnold face to face with many white-wigged peers.

A final word of Captain Arnold is significant, since it is spoken by a member of the air force, who at the same time often left his unit to help in the terrible emergencies of death that arose in other units. The air force man is heartily sick of the over-glorification which he has received in story and motion picture during this war. It is still the infantryman who bears the brunt of the battle, with in Capt. Arnold's opinion, the tank man ranking second, the fighter pilot, third. He, like many another airman, would like to see the credit fall where credit is due.

Children's Theatre Play Wins Approval Of Adult Audience

By BETTY HASKELL

Out of the pages of Lewis Carroll's classics stepped the familiar figures of Alice in Wonderland to rollic their way through a few of Alice's adventures on the pine shadowed stage of the Forest Theatre last Friday and Saturday afternoons.

This first performance by the Children's Theatre Centre under the direction of Edith Stebbins was indicative of excellent dramatic training too seldom found in children's performances.

Marcia Kuster as Alice was definitely perfection, from the last detail of her costume to the smallest gesture and inflection of voice. Joan Daniels as Humpty Dumpty was exceptional. Her ability to put across reactions by a turn of the head, an expression of bewilderment, were remarkable. Nancy Brough and Sandra Harbick, as the Red and White Queens were excellent, and Nancy Brown as the Mad Hatter was indeed deliciously mad.

Tweedledum and Tweedledee, played by Carolyn Fratessa and Carlene Daniels, had to keep up a fast moving dialogue, which they delivered with no shadow of the hesitation or dimness that could have spoiled the whole scene.

Delora Sharpe and Eleanor Taggart as Gryphon and Turtle danced their ridiculous quadrille amusingly, Barbee Watkins as the heavy-headed Dormouse, Janice Hatton as the Cheshire Cat, and Constance Melchoir as the mad March Hare managed to confuse Alice completely with their antics.

These children seem to have caught the real spirit of Alice and her friends, and the whole thing had a flavor of naturalness and ease that is the mark of professional polish.

The musical prelude by the high school orchestra was very well done, but perhaps a little long, since there were so many young children in the audience. They played a Bach Bouree and Tschaikovsky's Andante Cantabile, with a musicianship that deserved a more attentive audience.

Delora Sharpe, Joan Daniels, Barbee Watkins, and Nancy Brough sang "It was a Lover and His Lass" from As You Like It, and this was followed by the Third Scene from Act I of the same comedy. Joan Larky as Rosalind, Carol Hildebrand as Celia and Alexander Merivale as Duke Frederick fitted well into their parts, though it was a little difficult to hear them at times. This was a flaw that was not entirely the fault of the young people, nor of the outdoor theatre, but of the time of day, and of a very angry squirrel that chirred loudly from the trees.

It was altogether a splendid performance, and to find the Forest Theatre again in use is most gratifying.

SCOUT PAPER COLLECTION

Boy Scouts of Carmel collected 22,620 pounds of paper towards the National General Eisenhower Waste Paper Campaign, which ended on April 30. Total for this area was 845,892 pounds. The proceeds brought from the sale of this paper will be used for camp and other equipment and contributed to worthy charities, especially the re-establishing of scout activities in war-torn countries.

"You Enter The House-And Fairyland!" Woman's Club Flower Show Wins Admiration Of Entire Community

You lingered along the path approaching the Girl Scout House to enjoy the gay little dooryard garden developed over several months by the untiring efforts of Miss Winifred Lynn and to admire the large American eagle made of sedums, loaned by Mrs. Thomas F. Baxter, then you entered the house and fairyland. The interior had been transformed into a fragant bower of bloom under the direction of Miss Flora Hartwell, for the Carmel Woman's Club Annual Flower Show, Monday and Tuesday.

In the center of the north wall was a breath-takingly beautiful table setting for a wedding reception, arranged by Mrs. W. H. Hargrave. On a simulated altar were placed several pairs of choir boys, molded by Mrs. Hargrave. Behind them were tall white tapers, and the altar was edged with tiny white calla lilies, dainty sprays of white lilac blossoms and fine green leaves. The table below had a beautifully decorated bride's cake and an exquisite bride's bouquet.

Directly across the room was another beautiful white display, arranged by Mrs. Louise Grigsby, an exquisite arrangement of two vases of white calla lilies, graduated in length, and forming an arch over a white porcelain Madonna. Before it was a low bowl of white stock. White tapers and glass pitchers of white lilies stood at either end of the table.

The platform arrangement was particularly timely in its patriotic motif. The wall at the rear of the platform was massed with wild huckleberry, and the floor was covered with soft green feathery moss. The huckleberry had been gathered in the woods and arranged by Miss Flora Hartwell, Mrs. Alton Walker, Mrs. Robert E. Peck and Mrs. Helen Cranston. Against this background were placed very handsome silk flags of the United States, Great Britain, the Soviet Union, China and France, which had been loaned to the exhibit by Mr. Herbert Heron. Underneath each flag was a flower arrangement representing that country. A large fan-shaped display arranged by Miss Flora Hartwell occupied the center position under the American flag. To its right was the British arrangement, made by Mrs. Robert Peck, who also arranged the Soviet display. The Chinese arrangement was made by Mrs. Hargrave, and the set piece in front of the Tri-Color of France was made by Mr. and Mrs. George Vye.

Particularly interesting this year were several charming arrangements made by High School girls, including those of Jacqueline Wheeler, Patricia Collins, Constance Melchior, Doanda Wheeler, Carol Joyce Hildebrand and Betty Plaston.

"Mother and Babe" French bouquets were exhibited by Miss Flora Hartwell and Mrs. William Bogen. At the ends of the long table in the center of the room were very large bowls of tall Spring flowers, arranged by Mrs. Carel J. Hulsewe and Mrs. William Ritschel.

The magnificient exhibits of roses sent by General Hand, Mr. William Hargrave, Mrs. Verne Skillman, Mrs. William Ritschel and others, as well as the two beautiful Etoile de Hollande blooms floated in a crystal bowl by Mrs. Nellie Leyman, placed this queen of flowers even higher on the list of those which do well on the Monterey Peninsula.

A very dramatic arrangement was that made by Mrs. Jim Cooke and Mrs. T.B. Wilson, and one of the most admired settings was Mrs. Grace Howden's Chinese corner. Mrs. Lucille Hunt brought from Pacific Grove three arrangements which were rated among the "firsts" by many observers. A glowing, beautifully arranged group was Mrs. A. C. Hughes' basket of calendulas, daisies and yellow broom, and near by was a blue vase containing some enormous, long-stemmed orange poppies brought by Mrs. Charles LaPrelle. Mrs. LaPrelle also brought a basket of very lovely lilies, watsonias and cinerarias.

In the center of the long table a large round mirror reflected the the brilliant orange blossoms and glossy leaves of the datura which Mrs. Kathryn Lansdown had placed in two large white china swans on the "lake". Near by an old dark blue china teapot decorated with blackberry blossoms and leaves contained duplicates of those blossoms and leaves gathered from the field by Mrs. Connie Flavin. Mrs. F. W. Clampett brought an exquisite miniature marine arrangement of sand, shells, and shore mesembryanthemum.

One of the daintiest exhibits was that made by Mrs. John D. Campbell. Two stunning fremontia arrangements were exhibited by Mr. J. E. Abernethy and Mrs. L. O. Fisher. Another interesting arrangement was that of grasses and succulents done by the clever hands of Mrs. Robert E. Peck.

Several lovely arrangements of shells and flowers were exhibited, including Mrs. Ed Tickle's and Mrs. Charles Casey's.

A number of arrangements under glass were displayed, including Mrs. Addison Whiteside's, Mrs. Horace Dormody's, Mrs. William Halyard's. Among the oh-ed and ah-ed arrangements were Mrs. Helen Palmtag's and Mrs. Pauline Pierson's.

Mrs. George Seideneck's stunning display of green and white in syringa, columbine and hydrangeas betokened the true artist, and the iris exhibited by Mr. William Franklin Dixon would be a prize winner in any show. A words, the present board is well equipped to determine how much to spend on teachers' salaries, on new buildings, on how to get the most out of the tax payers' money in the physical appurtenances of the school system. Even if they weren't well endowed with practical sense and business knowledge, the members have an expert-financial advisor in their budget controller, Peter Mawdsley.

To put another member on the board whose outstanding recommendation is business ability is to produce a plethora of one quality at the expense of others equally important. The people of the district are fortunate that Dr. Williams, for years professor of education at the University of California, who as a member of the university accrediting board, has visited and passed on the academic qualifications of almost every high school in the state, is willing to give up some of his newly won leisure to make available to the school district his expert's knowledge and wide experience in the educational field.

The opportunity to obtain such a man to serve on the school board does not come to many communities. It is to be sincerely hoped the district makes the most of it. —Wilma Cook

"Why? Why?" Students Ask At Council Meeting

The Student City Council, holding its annual session in City Hall Wednesday night, conducted a "what's the answer" program, they asking the questions, the regular councilmen making a noble effort to produce the answers.

The student councilmen wanted to know: Why Carmel doesn't have trash cans on the streets? Why wouldn't a swimming pool on the dunes be a good post war project? Why couldn't a city hall be built as a "Living War Memorial?" Why the city pays $240 a month for hydrant rental—why not have a city owned water works? Why isn't the collection of garbage handled by the city? Why isn't some provision made for life saving at the beach? Why aren't the hedges that project at the intersections of Carmel streets, shutting off the view and creating a traffic hazard, trimmed or removed? Why isn't the hitch-hiking ordinance enforced? Why isn't a checkup made on the electrical wiring in the old houses, and something done to eliminate the fire hazards? Why aren't there more recreational facilities?

Asking were: Mayor Jim Heisinger, Fire Commissioner Mast Wolfson, Commissioner of Health and Safety Ballard Fish, Police Commissioner Garrett Geering, Street Commissioner Alice Williamson, Clerk Joan Janda and City Attorney Dean Rains.

The official council answered some of the questions—with the same old answers. Other they suggested the students refer to the voters. The session provided a good airing of community problems, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the students, who came well supplied with background material on city affairs, and by the regular members of the council, when they knew the answers.

At the official meeting of the council that preceded the young people's session, City Clerk Peter Mawdsley gave first reading to an ordinance amending the zoning ordinance by which no new taxi and bus stations may be established in Zone C-1 (Business District), but will be restricted to Zone C-2 (Heavy industrial district where the stables and laundry are located).

June 6 was set for the public hearing on three building applications: That of All Saints' Parish to build a new church in the residential district; that of E. Russell Field and Anne B. Field to gerrymander a lot of greater than regulation size for two dwellings, but irregular in shape, and that of William Schilling to construct a garage less than 15 feet from the property line in order to avoid cutting out an oak tree.

Beautiful Exhibit Of Flags, Maps In Seven Arts Gallery

Something different—an exhibit in Carmel that isn't an art exhibition! Bert Heron has arranged his collection of United Nations flags, maps, globes, atlases, histories and broadsides in the Seven Arts Gallery so attractively that the result is art though there isn't a picture in the collection, unless one counts the picture maps, and pictorial they surely are, arranged around the walls under the colorful, lovely array of flags, especially the Joe Mora maps of various sections of California, and the Book Lover's Map of England.

In addition to the maps that are primarily designed to please the aesthetic sense, there is a collection of maps that mean strictly business, the Mecator projections and the military maps of the various theatres of war in the Pacific.

The display is open to the public afternoons after 2:30.

Chat Sulks In His Tent When Audubon Members Make Call

Feature of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society field trip to the Hatton Ranch Sunday morning was the observing of the violet-green swallow and the rufous-crown sparrow, neither of which are likely to be seen on the Monterey Peninsula. The group was also pleased to find a Tolmie Warbler, though it was not so fortunate with the yellow-breasted chat, which it heard, but was unable to catch sight of.

In all, fifty-four species of birds—the complete list will be available in the Carmel Library with the publication of the next issue of The Sanderling—were met with on the trip.

As it was the last field trip of the season, the members presented their technical advisor, Mr. Laidlaw Williams, with a copy of Jepson's Manual of Flowering Plants of California as an indication of their appreciation of his great assistance to the group.

PAUL LOW NEW RENT HEAD

Paul Low has been named rent director for this area by Robert B. Parks, OPA rent director of San Francisco, to succeed Richard D. Hebb, who resigned recently. His post will be assumed on May 14. Until that time he is in San Francisco familiarizing himself with the details of rent control enforcement.

Menlo Park was named for the Irish estate of an early owner of the site.

New Shows Open At Art Gallery Tuesday

Tuesday will see the opening of a completely new exhibition at the Carmel Art Gallery including general shows in both oil and water-color. Among the pictures hanging in the Beardsley room will be three finely done flower studies by Miss Pauline Pierson, new artist member of the association. George Post has also promised to send several representations of his work down from San Francisco in response to the interest which his recent one-man show aroused in the community.

Thus, this week end will mark the end of the period in which the association has given over one of its main galleries to the presentation of work of school students on the Peninsula and those wishing to see the Monterey High School show must do so within the next three days.

Woman's Club Flower Show Successful

low silver bowl massed with white giant ruffled petunias brought by Mrs. Richard Hebb would also receive rapt attention anywhere, as would the bowl of white azaleas faintly blushed with pink which Mrs. R. A. Kocher exhibited.

Some twin arrangements lent attractiveness, ntoably the pair of antique glass urns containing charming clusters of garden flowers brought by Mrs. Guy W. Jordan and Mrs. John W. Dickinson. And placed high on the east wall by Mrs. C. J. Ryland and her daughter were three blue and white Chinese wall vases containing the trailing vine and brilliant orange blossoms of the so-called "parrot's beak".

A beautiful arrangement of deep pink rhododendron blossoms was brought from Monterey by Mrs. Carmel Martin. Mrs. James Parker provided the setting for her large French bouquet with a low Victorian mahogany chair.

Mrs. Ritschel contributed to the show a giant succulent in bloom. Some woodsy specimens of groupings lifted from the ground were brought by Miss Sophie Burgdorff. Mrs. F. B. Seville's charming arrangement of a pond and spotted deer and succulents received appreciation from everyone, and Miss Ruth Higby's and Mrs. H. D. Higley's pottery donkey carts with their loads of fragrant Spring blossoms seemed ready to jog on their cheery way.

In addition to the foregoing arrangements there were many bowls of beautiful blossoms, quite sufficient in themselves, notably those brought by Mrs. Charles Rayne, Mr. C. A. Jacquith, Miss Anne Grant, Miss Mae Lent, Mrs. Ernestine Arbuckle, Miss Anne Martin , Mrs. Sarah Burger, Mrs. J. W. Getsinger, Mrs. Louise Grigsby, Mrs. E. M. Heath, Mrs. Elaine Gardiner, Mrs. H. M. Upjohn, Miss Louise Carpenter, Mrs. John B. Ehman, Mrs. Noel Arnold, Mrs. A. C. Hughes, and Mrs. Saxton Pope.

A notable display was a single orchid spray by Mrs. William Ritschel.

A number of outstanding arrangements were contributed by Carmel shops, and places of business, and the Woman's Club is deeply appreciative of the co-operative spirit of the proprietors.

The sale of cut flowers was handled in the bay window corner by a committee headed by Miss Frances Hartwell and plants and cuttings were sold in the lobby by Miss Kate Firmin and her committee. Donations of quantities of lovely flowers for sale were received from Mrs. James Ross, Mrs. Margaret Kilpatrick, Miss Laura Dierrsen, Mrs. George ("Kippy") Stuart, Mrs. J. K. Partello, Mrs. Saxton Pope, Mr. Frank Wickman, Mr. and Mrs. Prager, Mrs. F. L. Lipman, Mrs. George Beardsley, Mrs. James Sorenson, the Misses Montgomery, Mr. Noel Sullivan, Mrs. Wiliam Ritschel, Mrs. Elizabeth Elliott, Mrs. Mabel Herrick, and many others. The sale of plants and cuttings added a notable sum to the receipts from the show and Miss Firmin and her committee are very grateful to the donors, among whom were Mrs. E. W. Blanchard, Mrs. Frances Ballard, Mrs. Hilda Brown, Mrs. J. C. Buffington, Mrs. W. D. Conn, Miss Helen Field, Mrs. Leon Fisher, the Misses Grant, Mrs. J. N. LeConte, Mrs. D. E. Nixon, Mr. Harry S. Nye, Mr. Alfred Wheldon, the Misses Reidy, Mrs. B. E. Somerville, Mrs. M. McK. Wild, Mrs. W. B. Swain, Mrs. F. B. Seville, Mrs. Lawrence H. Lyon of Pacific Grove, Hyde's Nursery, the Mel-O-Dee Flower Shop, Carmel, Pine View Nursery, Pacific Grove, Carmelo Grove Gardens, Pacific Grove, the Glenn Ryan Nursery, Pacific Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Hodges, Pacific Grove, and many others who did not leave their names.

Miss Hartwell wishes it known that she and her Committee Chairmen realize that the list of friends who donated plants and flowers from their gardens is not complete, as many names were not obtained but the success of the Flower Show would not have been possible without the cooperation of all who helped by work and by donations.

George VI Honors Col. Kelley And His "Fighting Irish"

Col. Gerard W. Kelley, whose wife and son, Dick, live in Carmel, was among those honored when King George VI cited the "Fighting Irish" 165th Infantry Regiment for their part in liberating Makin atoll in the British Gilbert Islands late in 1943.

The citation came in the form of the Distinguished Service Order to Col. Kelley, regimental commander since the death of Col. James Conroy, who was killed in the first day of fighting on Makin. The balance of the campaign was conducted under Col. Kelley, who had previously served as a lieutenant colonel in command of a battalion. Subsequently, he led his men through the campaign on Saipan in 1944 and remained in command until wounded during the Battle of Mt. Tapotchau. Now fully recovered, he heads his men in action on the western sector of Okinawa.

"That We May Not Fear The Power Of Any Adversaries"

A souvenir to demand a prominent place in a scrap book of current history arrived this week for Miss Lucile Turner from her brother—the program for the memorial services held on the U.S.S. Eldorado for Franklin Delano Roosevelt. On the front page of the four page printed program is written in ink, "Okinawa, April 15, 1945. R. K. Turner."

Of interest are the choice of prayers for the service, for in addition to "From Strength to Strength", "For Those Well Known", "For Those We Love", "For Our Country", and the 130th Psalsm, is St. Francis' Prayer for Peace.

Especially affecting when read by those safe ashore is the short prayer on the cover: "Oh God, who are the author of peace and lover of concord, in knowledge of whom standeth our eternal life, whose service is perfect freedom; defend us thy humble servants in all assaults of our enemies; that we, surely trusting in thy defense, may not fear the power of any adversaries, through the might of Jesus Christ our Lord."

Though the services were held on a relatively small vessel rather than on the flag ship, every man in the group was able to participate, for the services were broadcast, Admiral Turner says in his letter home.

Sanitary Board Decides On 75 Cent Tax For Parochial School

In accordance with the recommendation of District Attorney Anthony Brazil, it was decided at the regular monthly meeting of the Carmel Sanitary District Monday evening that the Parochial School at Carmel Mission could join the Sanitary District on the same arrangement that the High School has with the District, a tax of 75 cents a year per pupil and teacher.

Formal application has not yet been made on the part of Parochial School authorities, but Father Michael O'Connell has made inquiries of the District as to the cost involved if the school, to be completed this summer, were to come into the district.

Brazil was present at the meeting especially to discuss the matter with the board members, all of whom attended with the exception of Hugh Comstock, absent because of illness.

A thought for Americans as news comes of Europe's liberation

GOD of our fathers, known of old . . .
Lord of our far-flung battle-line . . .
Beneath whose awful Hand we hold
Dominion over palm and pine—
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget!

The tumult and the shouting dies . . .
The captains and the kings depart . . .
Still stands Thine ancient sacrifice,
An humble and a contrite heart.
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,—
Lest we forget, lest we forget!

6 New Teachers Hired For Next Year At Sunset

Six new teachers will join the Sunset faculty when school opens next fall, Mrs. Helen Cowan Wood, principal, announced this week.

Miss Dorothy Geiselhart will replace Miss Mary Spayd, who is retiring as sixth grade teacher. A graduate of San Jose State College, she has taken additional training at Santa Barbara State and is experienced in camp work, in arts and crafts. She has been teaching in Martinez, but her home is in San Jose.

Miss Lela Becker of Santa Clara, who taught in San Mateo this year, will take an extra session of kindergarten during the morning period and will teach art classes at Sunset in the afternoon. She is a graduate of San Jose State. Miss Sue Henderson, Fresno, who is graduating from Stanford University this spring, will take charge of another kindergarten class, replacing Miss Eleteth McQuilkin, who is retiring from teaching to get married.

There are to be three new first grade teachers, two to replace Mrs. Estelle Fontana, who is leaving to join her husband, and Miss Stella Schnabel, who will teach next fall in San Jose, where her family lives. The third will take charge of the new class, as there are to be three first grades. They are: Miss Contstance McLaughlin, a graduate of the College of the Pacific, and for eight years a teacher in Stockton; Mrs. Marjoire McCausland, principal of the Hanford grammar school, a graduate of San Jose and Fresno State; and Miss Winifred Regier, who has been teaching in Pittsburg, California, a graduate of San Francisco State College. Miss Regier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Regier, have their home in Pacific Grove, and her sister, Miss Grace Regier, teaches in Monterey.

A Reception Party

On Saturday, May 5, the Eighth Grade gave a reception party for the Seventh Grade at the High School. It was a Forty-Niners' party, and every body dressed accordingly. The reason it was a Forty-Niners' party is because the present Eighth Grade will graduate in 1949. They had many amusing decorations such as a pan of stagnant water with a sign that read: "Daniel Boone washed his feet here for the first and last time," and so on. They had the Wills read and the ABC's for both grades read. They also had refreshments. We all had fun.

LT. KERN RETURNING

Lt. Spencer R. Kern of Carmel Woods completed his missions as a Liberator First Pilot with the 15th Air Force three weeks ago. He is now leaving Naples for Carmel for a furlough before reassignment. Lt. Kern graduated from Sunset School and Monterey High, and was starting his senior year at Stanford when called into the Air Corps.

Today is an exciting day because it is May Day and the first day of fishing. The first day of every month we say "Rabbit" and that means "good luck" for the whole month! It means good luck for me especially 'cause my birthday is May 12th. —Linda Crandle.

"Bunny" Johnson brought "The Life of Our Lord" by Charles Dickens to school and said "Read the story but don't show the pictures 'cause there aren't any."

Gretchen Baumgartner—"You know my cat is so big that he is going to be a father cat soon! When he gets all grown up he'll be a "Tom Cat." A "Tom Cat" is a great big father cat."

THE BROOK

Many a time I have watched the brook,
It splatters and splashes with a tantalizing look.
It dashes right down with incredible speed.
It goes over rocks with the fish in the lead.
It makes me dizzy to watch it go,
But when it turns corners it goes quite slow.

In Carlsbad Caverns

When I went to the Carlsbad Caverns I saw many things formed by nature.

There are rocks called The Three Fairies, Longjohn, Carter's Rock, Smith's Rock, and the Rock of Ages. This last one grows an inch every century. It is about fifty feet high and very beautiful. There is the Bottomless Pit that has never been explored. It is over two hundred feet deep.

There are rooms with such names as the King and Queen's Palace, King and Queen's Chamber, The King's Hall, King and Queen's Throne.

There are icicles and rocks that are formed with salt and water that come through the earth. There are many other sights I wish you could see.

—Dorothy Stockwell.

The Japanese Twins

Taro and Take were Japanese twins who lived with their parents in Japan. They had a baby in the household, too, a small pink little baby, Bot'Chan. He was the pride and joy of the family. Take was always putting him to sleep because she said it was her job. Taro and Take were very, very polite, as all children are in Japan. They called everything HONORABLE, even the trees.

In Japan all the boys have their birthday on one day and the girls on another. Take's came first. When her birthday came she jumped out of bed in the morning and ran to get her gifts. When she had received them and the day was done, she lay back in her bed and slept.

Taro had his birthday next and when he got his gifts he, too, lay back in his bed and slept. When Take and Taro went with their parents to the temple to pray for Bot'Chan they saw many strange sights. They saw an altar, and idol of Kwannon, Fuji, the most beautiful mountain in the world. They laughed when Bot'Chan kicked and screamed at the priest when he tried to dip the salty Holy Water in his mouth to drive away all the spirits lurking there. When they were back home in their beds, they thought of all the wonderful sights they had seen—of Kwannon, of Fuji, the most beautiful mountain in the world. They lay back and slept.

Moving Day

Moving day is such fun
Because you run, and run.
You say, "I'll put it here. No, I'll put it there."
And so the things are everywhere.
Here on the chairs, there on the floor.
There even blocking up the door.
The dog sits on the welcome mat,
You put out the clock and wind up the cat.
Everything's so upset
You don't know where you're at.
But still I think moving day's fun,
But it's I that thinks it and I alone.

DR. WADLER TO LECTURE

Buddha or the Christ is the subject of a public lecture to be given by Dr. Arnold Wadler at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, May 13, at the Girl Scout House. During his stay in Carmel, Dr. Wadler will also conduct two courses of lessons in Anthroposophy, the world conception of Rudolph Steiner. The first of these concerns gospels, especially that according to St. John, and the second will be delivered upon the philosophy of spiritual activity. These are to be given at the home of Mrs. Smith Midkiff and those interested in attending may call 1496-J.

Dr. Wadler last taught and lectured here in December on the common origins of language, and since that time has been lecturing upon this subject at Stanford University.

There will be an admission charge for his current lecture.

Burgdorff Describes Colorful Hopi Snake Dance In Art Gallery Talk

It was refreshing and somehow steadying last Tuesday evening to turn one's thoughts for a moment from tragic conflict and diplomatic maneuverings and consider some early American who through many centuries have remained apart from the white man and his struggles.

Ferdinand Burgdorff, Carmel artist, delivered a lecture at the Carmel Art Gallery on the Hopi Indians and the Cliff Dwellers, a subject he knows well from having lived and worked in the Southwest a number of years ago. His lecture was illustrated by drawings made on the spot, showing the characteristics of the region, the people, their homes and their customs.

A high plateau, lying between two mountain ranges and occupying portions of Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico, is the territory where the Hopis, Navajos and other Indian tribes now live in much the same fashion as their forbears lived before recorded history. Mr. Burgdorff stated that the origin of these people is uncertain. The Navajos are somewhat Chinese in type, being tall and angular with wide-set cheekbones, while the Hopis are similar to Japanese in appearance, short, stocky and brown. Some years ago cowboys discovered in a pueblo, buried under three feet of debris, a Chinese bronze temple bell, which had probably lain there for several hundred years. Nevertheless, stated Mr. Burgdorff, the Asiatic origin of these Indians has not been established, and anthropologists believe their antecedents come from diverse sources.

By comparing growth rings in logs used as roof timbers with other tree rings, whose periods have been determined, archeologists are led to believe that the ancestors of the pueblo Indians settled in the Southwest over a thousand years ago. At first they dwelt in caves high in the hillsides for protection from weather and enemies, but later they constructed large communal dwellings and groups of individual houses on high ledges and tops of mesas. The one determining factor for location was the presence of a water source not too far away. One of the best examples of a pueblo village is Walpi, situated at one end of a high butte and looking, said the speaker, "like a ship with an old village out on the prow."

Although Mr. Burgdorff's drawings were all in black or brownish-red, his verbal descriptions of the orange, yellow and pink sand, the slate blue, red, purple, black and grey to be found in the rocks, the brilliant green gold and purple of the skies, and the vivid colors in garments worn by the Indians, made his audience realize that the Southwest is truly an artist's paradise.

Mr. Burgdorff said that the characteristics and tribal customs of the Hopis differ considerably from those of the Navajo, the former being a clean, peace-loving and agricultural people, the latter nomadic and warlike. The Hopis huddle in compact communities high on mesas or on ledges of cliffs from which they descend by ladders or toe-holds in the rocks to the plain for water and to tend their crops, which are chiefly maize, beans and squash. Although nomadic, the Navajo constructs a winter and a summer home, the former, called a hogan, being well built of logs and earth, with a door always opening to the east, and a hole off center in the roof to permit smoke to escape. His summer home is just a lean-to of poles, covered with brush or blankets.

The kiva or council chamber is always the center of community life in a southwest pueblo, used for religious ceremonials and secular meetings. A circular building, mostly underground, it is located in the main plaza of the village and is regarded by the Indians as a holy of holies where the white man is never admitted. Entrance to the kiva is by ladder through the only opening, a hole in the roof.

Perhaps the greatest attraction for sightseers is the Hopi snake dance, a rather fearsome spectacle, which is staged in supplication to the rain gods by a weirdly painted and decorated snake priest and assistants, called antelope priests. The snakes, which may be whipsnakes, rattlesnakes or other venomous reptiles, retain their fangs but it is probable, said Mr. Burgdorff, that their eight days in the coolness and dark of the kiva, prior to the dance, produces a state of sluggishness. During that period the priests fast and perform secret rites in the kiva. In performing the dance the snake priest holds a snake in his mouth, while an antelope priest distracts its attention by brushing it with a feather. After ritualistic steps and rites are performed, the snakes are dropped on the ground, sacred corn meal is thrown on them and then swift runners snatch them up and carry them to distant designated spots from which the snakes are supposed to go underground and plead with the rain god. Amazingly, said Mr. Burgdorff, rain frequently follows. Meanwhile the snake priests and antelope priests conclude the ceremonies with elaborate internal and external purification acts, after which they break their long fast by a meal of broth and roasted corn. —Helen Clark Cranston.

HOW MUCH TO MOVE A WAR?

As soon as we can, we'll bring to bear on the Japs all the additional might we've been using against Germany.

What will it cost, this Moving Day of War?

Estimate it in these terms: The job of moving millions of men from one front to another. Thousands of ships to carry the supplies of battle. Swarms of new-type aircraft to blast the path into enemy territory.

You can get an idea of the cost from the fact that Uncle Sam needs 7 billions from us in the mighty Seventh War Loan—now!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, May 13, with the Golden Text from Romans: "They which are the children ofthe flesh, these are not the children of God," (9:8).

A verse included in the sermon from the 37th Psalm reads: "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace." Correlative to this verse is the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, which reads: "In this Science, we discover man in the image and likeness of God. We see that man has never lost his spiritual estate and his eternal harmony," (p. 548).

First Notre Dame Game An Almost Win

Kenneth McKenna, reporting on the doings of the Notre Dame school, says the baseball team had a very festive time on the occasion of its first game of the season played with the Salinas Sacred Heart School on the Lincoln school field, Sunday, May 6. The game, according to McKenna, was mighty exciting, with Notre Dame getting off to a poor start but pulling in to a close finish of 6-7, in favor of Salinas. After the game the boys went to Sacred Heart School for refreshments.

Boys on the team are: catcher, Ronald Stoney; pitcher, Dionicio Narvaez; first base, Norman Wilson; second base, Patrick McInnis; third base, Kenneth McKenna; short stops, Bobby Osborne and Paul Artellan; fielders, John Fortier, Dick Kelley, Leslie Bracisco. Captain Anthony Janda was present but unable to play because of an injured foot.

Father Michael O'Connell was also present, lending dignity to the first game to be played in the Diocese this spring.

Karl Rendtorff

Karl G. Rendtorff, professor emeritus of Germanic language at Stanford University, died at his Camino Real home on Saturday after a long illness. Professor Rendtorff died in his eightieth year, in the thirty-second anniversary month of the establishment of the Rendtorff home in Carmel.

Professor Rendtorff was born in Kiel, Germany, and came to the United States in 1893, joining the Stanford faculty in the following year. He remained in continued service to the University until 1929, when he reached the traditional retirement age. On coming here to turn his vacation home into a permanent residence, Professor Rendtorff did not forsake his lifelong interest in art and architecture, but continued to maintain his well-loved collection of reproductions.

Mrs. Emma Rendtorff survives her husband; he leaves also one daughter, Miss Gertrude Rendtorff, dean of girls at Monterey High School. Dr. James Crowther officiated at private funeral services held at the T. A. Dorney Funeral Home on Monday morning.

Garden Club Women Feel Well Repaid

Members of the Garden Section of the Carmel's Woman's Club and their friends felt amply rewarded for their effort in making 250 small bouquets for the Easter Morning breakfast trays of the County Hospital patients, Miss Flora Hartwell, publicity chairman for the Garden Section, said this week on receiving a letter from Jean Olsen, head nurse of the County Hospital.

"Please forgive me for delaying so long in telling how very, very much the lovely Easter nosegays were enjoyed and appreciated by every one of our patients here at the Hospital, Miss Olsen wrote. "I wish you could have seen the glow that came upon the faces of some of those tired old people when they saw the flowers. It seemed that every glass in the hospital was suddenly in demand to be used as bedside flower vases. Being cognizant of the time and patience required to make up so many of those dainty bouquets, I want to thank all of you from the bottom of my heart."

PRODUCE . . .

IT'S EASY TO THINK of your Victory Garden as just a little plot, not amounting to much in food production. BUT—do you know that last year America's little Victory Gardens, like yours, produced more than eight million tons of food? That was a big help in relieving the overworked farmer and the food packing plants. Let's do it again this year.

PRESERVE . . .

WHEN YOUR CROPS come in, you may have a surplus of vegetables, fruits or berries—more than you need for daily meals. Be wise, be thrifty, be patriotic and can or preserve this surplus. Last year, home kitchens like yours, preserved almost three and a half billion quarts of vital food. Let's do it once more and help shorten the war.

PERSEVERE . . .

LET'S ALL KEEP UP our efforts on the home front, even when the news is best from the battle fronts. It's going to take time to catch up with the waste of war, long after the last shot is fired. And home-canned goodies in the larder will be welcome as the boys come home. . . . When the dictators figured America would get tired, they didn't know about American perseverance.

Lt. Col. Darnell, Jr. Awarded Bronze Star "For Leadership"

Lieutenant Colonel Carl Darnell Jr., husband of Mrs. Virginia R. Darnell, Carmel, commanding officer of a Field Artillery battalion of Maj. Gen. Paul J. Mueller's 81st "Wildcat" Infantry Division, has been awarded a Bronze Star for meritorious achievement connected with military operations against the Japs on Angaur Island.

Lt. Col. Darnell has since been made executive officer of the artillery for the Division.

The officer, who has been with the Division for some time, displayed "exceptional initiative and leadership" in support of the Infantry, the citation discloses. In full in reads:

"For meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy on Angaur Island, Palau Group, 17 September 1944-25 September 1944. Col. Darnell, then commanding officer of XXX Field Artillery battalion, landed his battalion of 105mm howitzers just before dark on 17 September, close behind the advance infantry, in difficult and unfavorable positions. He displayed exceptional initiative and leadership in emplacing his weapons and personnel for the purpose of furnishing prompt and continuous support to his successful infantry.

"Upon reembarkation of this infantry regiment for another operation, Col. Darnell, by timely displacement, rendered equally effective support to another regiment. The work of his battalion evidenced inspiring leadership and meritorious achievement not only in combat but also in the many months preparation prior thereto."

Dr. Steeves Talks On Dumbarton Oaks At Auxiliary Meet

Dr. Blanchard Steeves discussed the Dumbarton Oaks Proposals before the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of the Wayfarer at the meeting on Tuesday afternoon. Representatives of forty-six — which may become forty-nine — nations of the sixty-four governments of the world which might properly be included in an internationl organization are now considering these proposals, but neutral nations near Germany could hardly share the discussions at this time.

Dr. Steeves presented the plan under four divisions, first the suggested bodies not designed to use force but rather to improve human relationships between nations, the General Assembly being the largest of these, including as it does representatives of all the nations joining in the plan. The underlying purpose of thise agencies is to remove the motives for war. Commissions of economics and scientific experts will be employed continuously to investigate and report on conditions throughout the world in order to facilitate peaceable cooperation. Second are the bodies designed to use force when necessary, chief of which is the security council, a small body for quick action, including the military chiefs of staffs of the Big Four—if not the Big Five—nations. For successful operation of this power a highly developed idea of proper human relationships is necessary.

The other two bodies provided for in the proposals are the International Court of Justice, succeeding the World Court which has been operated for several decades with great success; and the Secretariat, the administrative agency of the plan. The Secretary General, to be nominated by the Security Council and elected by the General Assembly, will hold the "biggest job on earth". Various difficulties inherent in the plan were discussed briefly, with emphasis upon the provisions within the proposals for amending or modifying whenever it becomes necessary. As a basis for equitable peace, it is the most workable organization of the many that have been presented, Dr. Steeves said.

Preceding the program, the auxiliary heard reports on the year's work in the various departments. Mrs. John Hays conducted devotions with the theme of peace. Workers on bandages for the American Mission to Lepers began their work at 10:30, and other members joined them at 12:30 for a box luncheon. Mrs. D. E. Nixon, president, was in charge of the day's activities.

Col. Gillmore Promoted

Col. W. N. Gillmore has been promoted to the rank of Brigadier General, according to recent news received by his wife, who opened her home to thirty friends on Friday evening in celebration of the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Witter and Charles Jr., brother-in-law and sister, visited from Sebastopol to be in on the festivities.

General Gillmore's career has been closely connected to this locality, since he was born at the Presidio, while his family were stationed there during the building operations. After his graduation from West Point in 1925, Brigadier General Gillmore again came west to be stationed at the Presidio on his first assignment. The family was again here in 1939 to 1941 during the building of Fort Ord. The present stay of Mrs. Gillmore and the daughters, Betty and Frances, began last September. General Gillmore is now in Germany with the 101st Airborne division and commands the division's artillery.

Trudeau-Kane

Miss Joan Ruddy Trudeau, to graduate from Georgetown Visitation Convent in June, and Cadet Francis Borgia Kane, Jr., who will graduate from the United States Military Academy in the same month, are engaged, according to the announcement of Miss Trudeau's parents, Brigadier General and Mrs. Arthur Gilbert Trudeau. Cadet Kane is the son of Col. and Mrs. Francis Borgia Kane.

General Trudeau and his family were in Carmel while he was stationed at Fort Ord in 1939 and 1940. He is now acting director of military training army service forces.

Nicest, most useful gift of gifts for Mothers: one of the lovely knitting bags in Roman striped silken fabric in plaids, in checks and in solids—A variety of sizes from which to choose, and any number of styles. The JEAN RITCHIE Yarn Shop has these bags, and some needle cases with every necessary sized pair; crochet hooks and petit point cases and many pretty soft yarns and string for knitting and crocheting. In spite of the yarn shortage, Mrs. Ritchie has beautiful shades and grades from which to select the yarns for your sweaters, shawls, afghans, socks and those other marvelous hand-knit things the like of which there is no equal.

Of all the delectable treats in store for Mother's Day or any day, a Lady Baltimore white cake from THE DOLORES BAKERY is tops! A smooth and delicious butter cream filling and butter cream top-icing make this cake the truly perfect dessert. Besides the Lady Baltimore, there are all sorts of dainty confections in the form of oatmeal, lemon and sugar cookies, chocolate and rum-butter cakes, crispy rolls of many kinds and Danish pastries and pies . . . and best of all, those wonderful aromatic fresh-from-the-oven loaves of bread. There is no taste, no smell nor memory so sweet as the freshly baked bread loaf, all soft and crusty right from the oven.

For last-minute Mother's Day suggestions, THE COUNTRY SHOP offers probably the grandest array of lovely blouses for every style of suit. Fascinating colours with minute or large patterns, checks and plaids and stripes, high and low necklines, jabot or shirtmaker, any kind! Snowy white shirts and blouses are always right, and then a selection of pastels and solids in darker shades provides exciting colour matches or interesting contrasts. Also, The Country Shop has those dependable and smart looking handbags which are always welcome. Leather and patent leather and fabric bags in blacks and browns and blues as well as red, Kelly and other Spring shades . . . Mother's pride and joy, her new handbag! And glowingly happy Mother in her new Spring frock! All smart and modish dresses for her, pretty prints and pastels and light warm weather materials.

The Bergdorf Goodman colognes and bath drops to be found at HEARN LTD. are still another delightful present for this occasion. Sweet elusive fragrances that bring new freshness and charm to one's personality. And for the men, Hearn Ltd. has a new shipment of the Knize (pron. Kah-neezya) Ten "toiletries for gentlemen". A grand spicy scent is carried in cologne, bath soap and refreshing after-shaving lotion. This mild scented, creamy soap comes in small wooden crates with three packs per crate and makes an admirable gift for any man. Remember this when Father's Day rolls around in a month or two.

Askew-Durst Wedding

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Askew was the scene of a wedding recently when their nephew, Staff Sergeant Donald Askew was married to the former Robin Durst, a private with the WACS. The two young people, who are both serving at Camp Roberts, were attended by Private Evalyne Joncur and Sergeant Ross Ritchens, so that the entire wedding party was in army uniform. Chaplain Simpson of Fort Ord read the ceremony at 7 o'clock on Saturday evening, April 14.

The small group of close friends and family which attended then adjourned to the dining room for wedding cake and coffee, finding that the decorative theme of white tapers, calla lilies, and tulips, which had graced the lace-covered altar, was carried out there also.

The groom is the son of Harrison Askew of Carmel and Mrs. Elizabeth Askew of Pacific Grove. His wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Durst of Columbus, Ohio. Both have returned to duty at Camp Roberts.

OFFICE OF THE TAX COLLECTOR OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, CALIFORNIA.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to all delinquent tax payers and property owners mentioned, set forth and described in the foregoing list on the assessment roll of 1945, for the fiscal year 1945, in and for the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, County of Monterey, State of California, a Municipal corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, that unless the taxes delinquent, together with the costs and percentages due, as in the above delinquent list set forth, are paid prior to Monday, the 4th day of June, A. D. 1945, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, the real property on which said taxes and charges are a lien, will be sold to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, by operation of law and by declaration, for the payment of such taxes, together with percentages and costs. The sale will take place at the Office of the Tax Collector, in the City Hall on Dolores Street, between Ocean Avenue and Seventh Avenue, City of Carmel-by-the-Sea. EXCEPTION: Any property appearing in the foregoing delinquent tax list, which has been previously sold to the City for taxes, and redemption from such sale has not been made, will not again be sold to the City until such property has been redeemed from the previous sale.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand as Tax Collector, this 3rd day of May, A. D. 1945.

Thomas J. Hefling,
Tax Collector for the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Date of Publication, May 11, 1945.

Robt. Cecil, Home, Tells Of Prison Camp University

Robert Cecil, after an internment that began with the opening of Santo Tomas camp in the Philippines, arrived in Carmel on Sunday. Most heartening among his recollections is the educational experiment that went on after his transfer to Los Banos in May of 1943. The camp, conducting its own university, put twenty-two students through freshman college work, obtaining a skeleton library of texts through the efforts of Philippine friends on the outside. Further than this, a scholarship fund of $8,000 was raised—or rather pledged upon the day of release—by the 1500 internees, which was to send the three most promising of the students on through college. Two awards were made to American boys for careers in journalism and engineering, and the third to an English youth, who will study medicine.

Mr. Cecil, released on February 23, returned in a troop ship carrying 5,000 people, which was making its maiden voyage. Food was wonderful, and the army and Red Cross offered clothes and splendid hospitality, he reports. His ship docked in Los Angeles, where he was met by his wife, with whom he returned to Carmel for reunion with the children, Suzita, Bobby, and Stefani.

MAC To Present Student Concert

The Musical Arts Club will present its fourth program of the 1945 season at the Carmel High School Music Room on Sunday evening, May 20, at eight o'clock.

The program will consist of a varied offering of vocal and instrumental music, both solo and ensemble, as well as an exhibition of dancing. The artists will be a talented group of advanced music students of school age. These artists have been selected by an audition committee of the Musical Arts Club, with a view to presenting a well-balanced program of good music by the best student talent available within the age group chosen.

The program represents an expression of the policy of the club to further the development of young musicians of this vicinity, and is designed to provide genuine entertainment and a display of technical skill without becoming over-long or repetitious in the content of selections.

The concert will be open to members of the cub, their guests and the guests of the artists appearing on the program. A full list of participants and the selections to be presented will be announced later.

RED + NEWS

By MARY DEKKER

Fort Ord Hospital is calling for more Nurses' Aides than can be supplied by the Carmel Chapter from its corps of trained Aides. A new class for the training of more women for this essential work will start on June eleventh. Prospective Aides are requested to sign up for the class before June fourth when interviews will be held.

The wounded are pouring into our hosptals. V-E Day will not make them well. The call for help in nursing them will increase many times before it diminishes. An Aide must be stout of heart as well as physically fit. Other than the admiration of those who know how important her work is, she has for thanks only her own inner satisfaction in helping others, and in serving her country. If you have the time and the willingness for it, please sign up at the Red Cross Headquarters on Dolores Street.
